

Harvard Colombian Student Society & David Rockefeller Center for Latin American Studies - Andes Initiative - presents:

HACKING

HAPPINESS

A HAPPY TALE FROM A COMPUTER ILLITERATE

WITH MARIO CHAMORRO,
FOUNDER, MAKE IT HAPPY

THURSDAY FEBRUARY 20TH, 6:00 TO 7:00 PM

HARVARD UNIVERSITY

CENTER FOR GOVERNMENT AND INTERNATIONAL STUDIES (CGIS), ROOM S-216

1730 CAMBRIDGE STREET. CAMBRIDGE, MA 02138

ABSTRACT: Could someone hack happiness? in 2004 Mario moved to Boston, where he (kind of) learned English while waiting tables and parking cars as a valet. Flash forward to the present day, where he most recently spoke at a Happiness Panel at the U.N.; he is now considered an international ambassador of Happiness. He has a tight knit relationship with the TEDx community speaking around the world. At Hacking Happiness Mario explains how the streets of Cambridge allowed him to connect with doers, ideas, and initiatives that helped him to ignite a happiness revolution that in just a few years has reached millions of people in over 30 countries, and today continues to grow.

MAKE IT HAPPY